Officials say Dayan erred banning talks with American black leaders

By HIRSH GOODMAN Jerusalem Post Reporter and Agencies

Foreign Minister Mosbe Dayan characterized ae "unheipful" attempts by outside groups, including American blacks, to mediate between Israei and the PLO. He was speaking Wednesday evening at a ress conference in Washington.

But la Jerusalem yesterday senior government officials described as "scandalous" and "ridiculous" Davan's decision to bar any official from greeting, meeting or briefing three prominent American black leaders now visiting the Middle

Prime Minister Menahem Begin'e decision not to meet black leader Jesse Jackson, announced on Wednesday, was taken at Dayan's request, it was learned yesterday.

Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Kollek yesterday said that he had decided to meet Jackson despite the advice of the Foreign Ministry to the contrary. The meeting will take place next Monday, he said in an interview on the Kol Ylsrael newsresl.

Kollek said he thought the Foreign Ministry had erred. It was always preferable to hold such meetings, hs thought, than to create an Image of being so sure of the justice of our position that we were unwilling to argue or to listen to the opinions of Dayan told the press that Israel was at the moment "deeply involved in what we think are productive negotiations" with Egypt on all aspects of the Arab-Israel conflict.

"We don't really think it would be belpful if any additional parties whether the European community or the American hiaek community or any other party - would try to mediate between us and the Arabs."

Dayan seemed intent on avolding further tension between the hlack and the American-Jewish communities over the PLO issue. "For us." he said, "American blacks are Americans, just like Americas whites and any other Americans. Whether you in your own country want to be in another community or not, that's your own business and I know nothing about that."

For the past three days, officials of ths Foreign Ministry and of the Prime Minister's Office have been trying to persuade Dayan to change his mind. They are npprehensive that his decision may have a devastating effact on Israel's already tense relationship with U.S. blacks in the wake of the Andrew Young affair.

Begin has been approached by U.S. Jewish leadere, influential Israelis, and his own key advisers. .

Dayas on the grounds that the matter is entirely in his province. It appears that the premier, who has lately been at odds with Dayan on other lasues, does not want to exacerbate matters at this stage.

Officiale in Jerusalem, despite their almost daily contact with Dayan, say that they fail to see the logic of his position. They are afraid that Jackson, Rev. Joseph Lowery, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, U.S. Congressman Walter Fauntroy, all of whom are due to arrive in Isrnei soon, will hear only the Palestinian side of the questios.

"The consequences of Davan's ruling are going to be devastating for Israel." one key official toid The Jerusalem Post. "and it is inconceivable that he should he allowed to get away with it. The decision is irrational, unwarranted, and shorisighted."

Lowery is heading a delegation of 10 blacks now visiting Lehanon as guests of PLO leader Yasser Arafat. Commenting on Begin's refusal to meet the group, be said yesterday:

By WOLF BLITZER

Jerusalem Post Corresposdent WASHINGTON. - The State Department yesterday dismissed Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan's defence of the Israeli cabinet's recent decision enabling private Israeli citizens to purchase land on the West Bank and in the Gaza Strip.

Spokesman Hodding Carter III said the U.S. opposes 'unilateral actions" which "prejudice" the outcome of the nutonomy negotintions "make the conduct of those negotiations more difficult."

He declined to; comment on Dayan's assertion that the U.S., nt the Camp David talks, actually endorsed individual land sales instead of the state-sponsored transactions made during the past 12 years.

Israel'e decision was also sharply criticized yesterdsy hy a lead editorial in "The New York Times." which commented: "The Israelis keep nibhling at the political status quo in the West Bank territory and then ask the world to believe that their modest mnnoeuvres and settlements bave no great bearing on the issues on which peace there will finally depend.'

State Department officials yester-dny begin their indvance con-sultations with key congressional Mocking reports that he is partialincapacitated and cannot put in a full day's work. Begin also relished ridiculing recent public opinion

> "Are we expected to call early elections because so many people out of a random sample of 1,200 answer a question a ceriain way? Only the Knesset can legislate early elections. If and when a majority form such a move and the Knesset so votes, we will go to the voters," he declared.

Speaking from hie office, Begin expressed confidence in his government's ability to serve its full term, "but it would be no tragedy if a Knesset majority wants early elec-tions. That's democracy, and such democratic countries." Begin

"The Liberals have never so much as suggested a cahinet reshuffle. Such a step is not being considered today," he said, emphasizing the last word. All the governmest needs, Begin added, is a return to the cooperation and mutual respect of its first daye.

He refused to be drawn into commenting on derogatory remarks about his government by coalltion members, pointing to the lack of harmony which has existed in Labour governments, as described in the Sharett and Rahin memoirs.

He does not intend to take barsh steps to ensure cabinet discipline, he sald. "I have always helieved in meral persuasion and a friendly approsch, and will not act otherwise. ## Peres back, renews call for early vote

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. - Labour Party chairman Shimon Peres jumped etraight into the political fray yesterday after his return from a visit to the U.S. by relterating his call for new elections. Speaking on Israel Radio's afternoon magazine, Peres called on the country's leaders to "turn to the pecple for a new mandate and a new team, to reacue the economy and set a path for the state's future." Turning to Intra-party affairs. Peres pooh-poohed the significance of various factional gatherings and counter-gatherings which took place during his absence. He called them "perfectly legitimate" and "in no way contrary to party regulations," but added that "if peopls want to discuss accio-economic problems, there is no need to do lt separately."

Peres was apparently referring to the Beit Berl gathering, the ostensihle purpose of which was to discuss tho Israeli economy and society. Organized by a number of up and coming leaders still removed from the centres of Labour power, the mseting was eharply criticized by some party "haves."

Asked about the anti-former premier Yitzhak Rabin letters to editors inspired by the Idan public relations firm, which is employed by the Lahour Party, Peres replied that be does not occupy himself with gossip and that he does not know enough about the case to comment.

Reporting on his talks with tha Americans, Peres said he found readiness to put autonomy into effect in Gaza first, and added that several Arah countries which had opposed Egyptian peace policies were now changing their tune. Peres mentioned Kuwait as a prime example, but noted a similar tendency in Saudi Arabia, and asserted that "Jordan's King Hussein is signalling that be is not a lost case either."

Ramot road to be peaceful during holiday season

By ABRAHAM BABINOVICH Jerusalem Post Reporter

A peaceful holiday on Jerusalem's Ramot road was apparently assured yesterday when the rabbinical court of the Eda Haredit accepted a proposal by Interior Minister Yosef Burg to shield the road from the view Orthodox adjoining neighbourhoods.

Until a barrier is huilt to mask the road, traffic will he diverted — starting in about 10 days — through the industrial area bordering the road.

The loaders of the Eda Haredil, a respected institution that provides religious services for Jerusalem's large ultra-Ortbodox community. called on extremist elements in the Natorei Karta to refrain from holding demonstrations, at least until after the boliday season. A spokesman for the Natorei Karta activists said in an interview last night, ''We've reluctantly accepted." Natorel Karta had previously rejected the idea of a barrier.

Interior Ministry planners were asked yesterday to propose designs for the barrior. Several have already hesn euggested, including a fivemetre-high stone wall and a fan-like device made of light materials. The Housing Ministry, which built the road to its housing estate at Ramot. has agreed to pay the estimated II.8m. IL10m. cost of the barrier.

The increasing militancy of secular residents and the likelihood of violent encounters and attacks on axisting Orthodox neighbourhoods may have figured in the softening of attitude in the ultra-religious camp.

Another factor may have been the appeal of Jarusalem Police Commander Zvi Ben-Eliyahu who met with the religious leaders this week and begged for a pledge of quiet on the road for the sake of his overworked men - who have been patrolling the road in force on Sabbaths for the past year.

"Let them eat applee and honey with their families too," said Ben-Elivahu.

The decision to accept the Burg proposal was made by the Eda Haredit court in consultation with the rabbis of Kiryat Zanz and other nelghhourhoods ovarlooking the are in the Ein Karem facility. Several others, including Dutch tourist Dina Unger, were described yesterday as in "serious condition."

Altogether, 20 of the 51 people injured hy the Rehov Ben-Yehuda bombing are still being treated in the two Hadassah Hospitals and in Bikur-Holim Hospital on Rebov Strauss. Interior Minietor Yosef Burg yesterday condemned the behaviour of the crowd following the explosion. Polics complained that the crowd had hampered reecue activity and checks for further bomba, Burg called upon the public to sxercise "vigilance" and "discipline."

Kami Rofeh, 31, killed in Wodnesday's blast, was hurled yesterday afternoon in Jerusalem's Givat Shaul cemetery. Rofeh had arrived in Israel from Iran eight months ago and lived in Jorusalem's Ir Ganim quarter, On Wednesday evening he was drinking coffee with his family at an outdoor cafe table when the homb went off besida him. His wife Edna and their daughter Anat, 4, were both slightly injured.

The Iraqi-sponsored Arah Liberetion Front (ALF) yesterday claimed responsibility for the bomb. The ALF, a rejectionist constituent of the PLO, claimed that 'over 50 Zionists" had been killed in the hlast. The injured at the Hadassah Hospital on Mount Scopus were visited vesterday by Deputy Prime Minister Yignol Yadin, Jerusalem Mayor Teddy Koliek sent each of the

Move to topple Ehrlich as Liberal Party leader

By SARAH HONIG Post Political Reporter

TEL AVIV. - Moves are afoot in some Liberal Party circles to remove Finance Minister Simha Ehrlich from the post of party leader and to demand his resignation from the Treasury, at the Liberal Central Committee session scheduled for Rebel elements in the party, especially those ilnked to former deputy finance minister Yebezkel Flomin and to Energy Minister Yltzhak Moda'l, have been putting out feelers about the move recently. They say they are encouraged by the

The anti-Ehrlich factions are optimistic about their chances of toppling the leader because the mutual protection pact between the four Liberal ministers, Ehrlich, Moda'l, Pstt (Industry), and Moshe Nissim (without portfolio), has dissolved. The unwritten agreement came into being in the face of vociferous demands that they resign en bloc after the eubsidies reduction fiasco

Liberal insiders say it is not entirely inconesivable that backers of Industry. Trade and Tourism Minister Gideon Patt may join the campaign to sack the boss, despite Patt's one-time allegiance to Ehrlich.

The blg tactical stumbling block facing the rebels is the uncomfortsbls fact that Ehrlich himself will be absent from Tuesday's meeting. Ehrlich left yesterday morning for a two-week visit to Europe, during which he will participate in the International Monetary Fund conference in Belgrade.

Ehrlich's supporters are likely, in view of his absence, to pull the moral trump card that trying to remove him on Tuesday will amount to backstabbing. So some of the anti-Ehrlich forces favour delaying their move until he gets back.

The cause for the increased militancy in the party, especially among circles close to Moda 1, is the plan reportedly hatched by Ehrlich that the Liberal ministers resign en bloc in a few weeks, should it become evident that no progress has been made in implementing Liberal economic principles. The Central Committee gave the four ministers a 90-day deadline in June to produce evidence of such progress.

Moda'l is especially adamant in his refusal to vacate his cabinet seat along with Ehrlich, and now it is reported that the Patt group is likewise opposed to collactive resignation. It is thought that if Ehrlich suggests such a move to the central committee, it will lead to a counter-motion calling for bis resignation alone.

Another source of friction is the reported move by Ehrlich to have the party convention scheduled for December postponed. Again, Moda'i is the chief opponent. Ehrlich's rivals say hs wants the postponement because he fears the convention will go against him.

Ehrlich has created ripples by his proposal-that a blocking percentage of 3 per cent of the vote be instituted in Knesset elections. This would mean that a party which obtains less than three per cent of the votes cast would have no representation in the Knesset. Ehrlich thinks It would be 'no catastrophe' if such a scheme were instituted, and points to the West German precedent, where five per cent of the poli is required for representation.

Not surprisingly, Labour favours the proposal and smaller parties are vehemently opposed.

Ehrlich says the 3 per cent minimum is necessary because It now appears basic changes to the electoral system will not be possible. before the next elections to the

TEL AVIV (Itim). - The bankruptcy trustee in the cass of Yeboshua Bension, who was jailed in 1975 for fraud offences involving $47m. connected: with the collapse of the Israel-British Bank, has obtained a court verdict obliging Benslon's daughters to pay back part of their father's debts.

Bension was centenced to 12 years in jail for fraud and fined IL25m. He was pardoned by former president Ephraim Katzir shortly after the Likud came to power in 1977, but not sxcused from paying the fine. He bas not, bowever, done so.

Judge Hannah Even-or ruled in the District Court yesterday that Bension's daughters, Aliora Eldad and Sharon Ben-Ami, must return the sum of IL80,000, linked to the rise in the Cost-of-Living index since 1973. and a sum equal to two-thirds of the value of a two-cottage semi-detached cottage in Jerusalem's French Hill quarter.

The judge ruled that the daughters were given the money by Bension near the time of his bankruptcy, and they have therefore to return it to the trustee, attorney L. D. Komisar. Because Bension has not paid the fine, Komisar is involved in drawnout legal proceedings trying to obtain court verdicts against Bension and his family to make them return some of the money "lost" in the bankruptcy.

7 Israeli scholars to examine Jewish manuscripts in Egypt

By JUDY SIEGEL

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Egypt has granted seven Israeli scholars permission to visit Cairo and Alexandria from October 21 to 30 to survey and microfilm Jewish manuscripts and books.

The trip, which is the result of a promise made by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to President Yitzhak Navon when they met in Halfa on September 4, will be par-tially funded by Belt Hanassi.

Among the sites to be visited and studled will be the Ben Ezra Synagogue in Qasr as-Sama ln Cairo (where the Geniza was found); the Karaite Synagogue ln Ahbasiya ln Cairo (wbere very old manuscripts of the Bible, including the sariiest dated codex written in Tiberias in 895 C.E., are kept); the Basatin Jewish cemetery (where part of the Geniza was buried in 1890); and synagogues in Alexandria.

The scholars will be allowed to copy the documents on microfilm to be photographed either by Egyptians associated with universities or by the photographer of the Jewish National and University Library In Jerusalem.

The seven scholars are: Dr. Malachi Ben-Arle, director of the llbrary and an expert in Hebrew manuscripts; Dr. Mordechal Nadav, head of the library's manuscripts department; Joseph Coben, head of the library's department of Hehrew printed books; Prof. Ezra Fleischer, bead of the Hebrew University's department of Hebrew literature: Prof. Shaul Shaked, head of the university's department of comparative religion; Prof. Nebemia Allony of Ben-Gurion University; and Prof. Moshe Gil of Tel Aviv University.

Sadat's agreement to Navon's request that an exhibition on Jewish history and culture be displayed in Egypt will also be discussed by the scholars on their visit.

Jarusalem Post Reporter

HAIFA. — Police last night broke into the Fertilizers and Chemicals Ltd. plant, lifting a "blockade" by afternoon shift workers which had lasted several hours. The police spokesman said that the decision to force open the gates was taken by Halfa police chief Tat-Nitzav Avraham Turgeman at the request of the management. Attempts to persuade the workers to open the gates voluntarily had failed, police said.

The works committee Imposed the blockade, locking in workers and management, including general manager Israel Arkin, because they objected to the appointment of a new personnel chief without their having been consulted.

The Labour Council had ordered the committee to refrain from taking any action, warning them they had no right to interfere with the appointment. But it, too, failed to persuade the committee to lift the blockade

Britain, Zimbabwe near accord on constitution

LONDON. - A spokeeman for Zimbabwe Rhodesisn Premier Biehop Abel Muzorewa said yesterday the Salisbury delegation and the British government are "very close to total agreement" on an indepeadence constitution for the new state.

But conference sources said agreement between the Salisbury delegation and the Patriotic Front guerrlliae is nowhere in eight.

Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington held another two-hour private meeting with the Salisbury delegation vectorday morning. At the end of it. Muzorewa'e Foreign Minister David Mukome "We made even further progress than yesterday. I am happy to say we are very close to total

He said this would include agreement whether or not there should be a continued "blocking mechaniem" or veto rights for the 220,000 white minority. But he declined to say whether this meant his delegation has abandoned this demand. "Ail I can say," Mukome said, "is that we moved nearer to the British and they moved nearer to us." Britain has been demanding that a limited number of seats - probably 20 per cent - in the parilament of a future independent Zimbabwe should be reserved for the whites. This has been a major eticking point in Carrington's talks both with the Muzorewa delegation and with the Patriotic Front.

Meanwhile, a mortar attack by guerrillas destroyed a factory that produced half of Zimbabwe Rhodesia's frozea foode, the manager said yeeterday.

"I'm standing in the ruins now," Colin Taylor sald in a telephone interview from Juliasdale, some 160 km. southeast of Salisbury.

The factory, independently owned and financed by the Lever Brothers group of Zimbabwe Rhodesia, was shelled on Tuesday night. (UPI, of Representatives on Wednesday rejected two proposed increases in the 1980 defence budget, breaking with the Senate which had approved sharply increased military spending the day before.

Earlier, on a 62-36 vote, the Senate approved a $545.3b. budget for fiscal 1980 with a $31.6b. deficit. The Senate's proposed budget represents a 10.1 per cent increase over 1979 and reverses the recent trend toward smaller government deficits

The Senate's action marks a clear shift in prioritics from domestic programmes to increased military spending. It approved the defence spending hikes after sgreeing to force $3.6b. in savings, mostly from social programmes The Senate's budget proposal went to the House, where action was aiready under way on its version.

The House, on a 221-191 vote Wednesday, defeated an amendment to boost defence outlays by $418m. in fiscal 1980, which starts on October . And in a 43-20 unrecorded vote, the calling for a 5 per cent iocrease in 1980 defence spending after inflation is discounted,

Differences between the house and Senate budgets will be reconciled in a conference committee before binding spending limits are set.

Thus the Republicans went down to 208 seats in the 450-seat Assembly. The government's overall support, with independents, was reduced to 220 against 223 of the opposition bloc led by Justice Party leader Suleyman Demirsl. Of the seven empty ceats in the Assembly, five will be contested in October byelections

With possible support from Sukan in the critical province of Koaya, Demirel now stands likely to win four of the five seats in the poils. This would give him sufficient strength to bring down the government la a parliamentary vote of confidence after the elections, political analysts Second Day of the Week of Nitzovim-Vayelech 18th of Elul, 5739 Brooklyn, N.Y.

To the Sons and Daughters of Our People Israel, Everywhere -G-d bless you all, Grecting and Bicssing: Reflecting on the coming new year, and on the preparation which it calls for, one becomes aware that each new year has a dual dimension: one is the general significance that each new year shares with all new years as a new year; the other is the special significance, which is related to the specific features of the particular year, whereby it is distinguished from the others. It is on the special significance of the coming new year — 5740 - that we shall dwell here.

The special significance of the coming year is that it is the "seventh year, the year of Sbemittah." which the Torah, Toras Emes (so called, because it illuminates everything with the Divine Truth), designates es a "Shabbos unto G-d," a "Sabbatical year dedicated to the Almighty."

A second point which emphasizes even more pointedly the special character of the coming year is that the first day of the year, the first day of Rosh Hashanah, occurs on Shabbos. And, as it has often been pointed out, "Rosb Hashanah" is not only the "beginning" of the year, but also the "head" (Rosh) of the year, meaning, that just as the head directs all activities of the body, so must the good resolutions of Rosh Hashanah dominate each and sil the days of the entire year.

Hence it is doubly significant that the coming Sabbatical Year also has a

At the same time, it should be noted that although the distinction of the coming year in respect of Shemittah is primarily connected with Eretz Ylsroel, and with the holiness of our Holy Land, where all the laws of Shemittah are in force, above all the Shemittah ("release") of our land, fields, vineyards, etc., from any agricultural activity.

It has been explained on many occasions that a Jew, wherever he is, is expected in his everyday life, especially in his spiritual life, to transform his environment — his home as well as his surroundings — into a (spiritual)
"Eretz Yisroei." in other words, since Eretz Yisroel is a "land on which G-d's eyes rest continously, from the beginning of the year to the end of the year"— a similar atmosphere of G-dliness must permeate every Jewish home and all around it, to the extent of breathing the very "air of Eretz Yisroel," wherever a Jew is.

Besides, also in the Disepora the law of Shemittas Kesofim (remission of debts; is in force, which emphasizes the spirit of Shemittah also in the material aspects of life, particularly in interhuman relationships (bein odom lachaveroi).

*** The essence of Shabbos is holiness — Shabbos Kodesh a boly Shabbos, a day permeated with holiness, which, first of all expresses itself in the cessation of all weekday activities: In regard to the Sabbatical Year, Shemittah - in ali agricultural activities, in the field, vineyard, etc.; in regard to the day of Shabbos - cessation from any kind of work, both in the house and in the field, as it is written, "You ehall not do any work."

Needless to say, one does not stop at not doing what is forbidden to do; together with this, it is necessary to actively fill the day of Sbabboe;" and to do this in a way that "hrings pleasure (Oneg) into the Shabboe" - by way of the Torah and Mitzvoth. And through all this G-d's blessings, both spiritually and materially, are brought down, not only in the day of Shabboe, but also in all the days of the week. For, the holiacss of Sbabbos goes together with the blessing of Shabboe, as Torah declares: "And G-d blessed the Seventh Oay and made it holy."

To put it another way: The general purpose of a human being is, as written, "A man to toil is born" — toil, do useful work, and to achieve good regults. Shabbos cannot contradict thie purpose, G-d forbid. On the contrary, the "toil" of Shabbos is the true and purposeful kind of toll, which our Sagee call the "toil of Torah" (Torah meaning "Instruction," namely, the fulfillment of the Mitzvoth, including the Mitzvo of learning Torah in a manner that leads to action, and the "toil of Tefliah (prayer)." Therefore, Shabbos, when a Jew ie tree from weekday activities, le filled with Mitzvoth (even the ordinary activities of eating, driaking, sleeping become a Mitzvo. — the Mitzvo of Oneg Shabboe) with additional time for Torah study, for more devout prayer, with the appropriate preparation that prayer calls for. And this is, as mentioned above, the true Oneg Shabbos (aside from the pleasurable anticipation of the reward and blessings that come with the observance of Shabbos).

The same is true of the Year of Shemittah: both in regard to the Jew's Shabbos-like conduct during this year, utilizing the "released" time from work for additional Mitzvoth, Torah and prayers; as well as in regard to the influence of the Shemittah Year throughout all the "week" — years of

And if this is so in regard to any Shemittah Year, it is certainly more compellingly so in regard to the coming year, which has a Sabbatical "head," as mentioned above. Surely, such a year should be filled with a greater measure of goodness and holiness — over and above the usual obligation of "keeping all matters of holiness on the upgrade."

Moreover, since both the Shabbos day and Shabbos year remind us that G-d is the Creator and Master of the world, and of all that is in it, including man, it is certain that He provides every Jew and all Jews with the fullest capacity necessary to keep the Shabbos, and to keep Shemittah in the fullest measure.

To sum up, in practical terms: Since we are at the threshold of the new year, a year that is a 'Shabbos unto G-d," and whose Rosh Hashanah is on Shabboe; a year that is associated with holiness and hiessing and Oneg (pleasure), it calls for a corresponding preparation in terms of a firm resolve to fill sach day of the coming year with matters that contain these qualities, and in all thres areas of Torah, Avodah (Tefilah) and charitable acts, all to be performed

It should also be emphasized here that in view of the fact that the Shemittah Year — in respect of the prohibition of agricultural work — begins a month earlier, in the month of Elul, it follows that the special conduct that the Shemittah Year calls for should likewiss begin in the month of Elul, with emphasis on action, which is the essential thing; namely, to put into effect the higher level of Torah studies, more meticulous observance of the Mitzvoth and greater devoutness in prayer. And this will bring even more blessing and prosperity in their wake, now and throughout the entire coming year.

May G-d grant that everyone of us, in the midst of all our Jowish people, should indeed resolve to carry out the above, in keeping also with the current Weekly Sidrah Nitzovim-Vayelech: "You are standing, all of you, today before G-d, your G-d... to enter into the Covenant of G-d, your G-d."

And may this be the preparation for the imminent fulfillment of the Divine Promise in the esction of Chumash corresponding to thie day of the week: "And G-d. your G-d will return your returnees... and will briag you into the land," which follows last week's reading; "And It chail come to pass(vehoyo) whea you will enter into the land... and dwell in it." on which our Sagee comment that vehoyo is an expression of joy, es well as an expression of traminent fulfilment.

At the true and complete Geulo through Moshiach Tzidkeinu.

When we will see the realization of the prophecies, "Ae in the days of your coming out of Egypt" and "G-d will bring all our Jewish people into his Holy Land. to the Bels Hamikdosh which His Right Hand made," when all the Mitzvoth, including also those of Shemlttah, will be carried out in all their details, with joy and gladness of beart.

Anthony Holden reports from Washington on the man who has lit a fuse under President Jimmy Carter

THE UNITED STATES, contrary to pregious reports, does possess a Royal Family. And the past few days have at last seen the investiture of its reviously reluctant crown prince. No one but Senator Edward Kennedy can quite match royalty'e effect upon entering a room. For a moment the whole place freezes: then there is a brief buzz of excitement before the crowd surgee in his direction with all the dignity of a ridal wave.

So it was at a star-studded party for Boh Hope in, appropriately enough, Washington's Kennedy Ceni tre for the Performing Arts. Hope a suddenly found himself standing slone as the fickle fans deserted him. Pinned against the opposite wall, Kennedy quietly challenged President Jimmy Carter to prove himself worthy of his office.

America has been waiting 10 years for this moment. It was shortly after Richard Nixon's election in 1968 that the first lapel buttons appeared, reading EMK 1972. For a decade, Kennedy has flirted with the elec-torate, raising its hopes only to dash them again, carefully building himself enormous stature in the

Now, with a series of skilfully orchestrated moves, he has reached an apparent point of no return. The "Draft Kennedy" movements burgeoning in 19 states were about to sag; they could not persuade people that their man would run. KENNEDY'S POPULARITY at present transcends politics: he is portrayed in the polls simply as the ieader America craves. Once a can-

Two consecutive statements, however, make his intentions clear. He will feel it his duty to run, he says, unless Carter can be seen to turn the economy around in the next month or two. Is that possible? In a word, says the eenator, no.

He could, of course, still back off. "Oh yes, that's quite possible," said one of hie senior Democratic colleagues in the Senate. "Come November, Teddy could get up and say to the peopis, 'Look, I've thought about this thing, I've looked at it from this way and that, and I've decided to support President Carter's renomination and campaign vigorousiy for his re-election.' WHAT IS the CED, how big a role does Fonda play in it, and why should Presidential aspirant Brown court it assiduously?

A glance at the roots of the Brown-Hayden-Fonds friendship offers in-sights. In 1973, when the California legislature was about to censure "Hanoi Jane" for visiting Vietnam the previous year and "spreading enemy lies," she and Hayden sought heip from Brown, then secretary of state. Fonda feared that the attacks: could end her film career.

Brown worked behind the scenes and had the consure motion killed. The friendship began which this year burst into national headlinee as Hayden, now 39, and Fonda, 40, sailed into a seriee of controversies. There were storms over Brown's appointments of CED members to prominent political jobs, over his naming of Fonda to the state arts council, over the appointment of Hayden - a former leader of

None of which has harmed CED. Hayden saye he expects the group tohave 50,000 members by next year (each paying $50 for the privilege). Formed in 1978, after his nnsuccessful run for the U.S. Senate, it will serve as a launching pad for a second bid in 1982.

The ties with Brown are far closer than tire couple will admit. With girl-friend Linds Roustadt in tow, Brown visits the Haydens for long discussions at their Santa Monica home, attends meetings of the CED barred to the press and stays at their idyllic 120-acre ranch in the hills above Santa Barbara - a rest home for campaign-weary CED leftists, purchased last year with Fonda's movic earnings.

But the far right is thrilled: "They're going to gouge each other for all they can get in contacts, money and power," burbled one Republican politician this week. # South African whirlwind

By BARRY STREEK / Cape Town

A WHIRLWIND is sweeping through the white political establishment in South Africa. It is not the essential nature of white control in the major part of the country that is changing; rather it is the leading personalities and official policies.

In less than a year in office. South African Prime Minister P.W. Boths has introduced important changes to government policy and set others in

During the same period, revered National Party heroes like former prime minister John Vorster and former information minister Connie Mulder have been disgraced and removed from office.

The winds of change have also hlown through the ranks of the official opposition. The largest antigovernment party in the all-white parlinment, the Progressive Federal Party, will soon elect a new leader to replace veteran politician Colin

But it is within the ruling National Party that the changes and reverherations have been most profound. And despite reduced mafor itles in recent hy-elections. Botha seems determined to push ahead with those changes he helieves are esaentlal for South Africa's survival in the face of a "Marxist onslaught."

His "total strategy" involves the establishment of clear national goals, such as military security, unfettered economic growth and greater internal freedom from discrimination; the creation of a "constellation" of Southern African BUYING A French chateau used to be — if you were rich enough — a fairly almple operation. You liked the castie and the neighbourhood, you paid your money, mended the roof and moved in.

A clear alm of this etrategy is to win the active support of those hiack people prepared to work within the system and a far more determined effort by the government to improve conditions in the rurai hlack "homelands," come of which have already gained their "independence" from South Africa.

Accompanied by hie verligte (enlightened) Minister of Cooperation and Development, Dr. Piet Koornhof, the prime minister recently went on an official tour - the first ever by a South African premier of the non-independent homelands in an effort to turther his aim of recon clliation. And in splte of some hard talking, he made some concessions and won friends among the hlack inhahltants.

Following Vorster, who never even had iunch with the homeiand leaders, Bothn made an impact, moving freely among the large crowds of hlack people who followed him throughout the visit.

And there is little doubt that the government will try to follow up this visit with concrete responses to the demands of the homeiand leaders, auch as increased ald, more jobs and grenter attention to rural development. While the homeland tour undoubtedly had public relations henefits, it was clearly part of the new premier's strategy to win the hearts and minds of the people.

THE SPEED and determination with which Botha is implementing his strategy is creating confusion among his own supporters, par-ticularly among his party's rightwing, which is seeking to create resistance to the changes.

The right-wing is unhappy with his proposal for a constellation of states. Various National Party leaders have argued over the years for "conaultation" with black people, but they have always strongly resisted any suggestions of a national convention or federation.

The argument in the past has been that joint decision-making hetween black and white, or shared power, not he able to decide their own

For the National Party, n willingness to discuss defence strategies with hlack leaders heralds a major change in policy. In a television interview. Botha was not even prepared to rule out the possibility of a federation, although his party has always also opposed any such suggestion. DURING THE past 12 months, other cornerstones of National Party policy have also crumbled. In terms of its policy of separation, the hiack ethnic groups have such heen allocated a "homeland." The hasis of the division of land was a 1936 law which officially allocated some 18 per cent of the South African territory to hiacks. Each of these steps contrasts sharply with previous policy, and although they are far from fulfilling the aspirations of hlacks who seek majority rule in South Africa, Botha has unsquivocally changed the emphasis of government policy.

Just over three years sines the hlack Johanneshurg township of Soweto was enguired in riots, Botha has amounced that he would visit the township. It is a further sign of the. new government'e attempt to win the psychological war and further defuse tension in a bitterly divided society.

Even the communists, whose ideas could. hardly be further removed from the kind of life for which these buildings were designed, are protesting against "the erosion of the national heritage." Writers on architecture point out that Cimbré sn Tiercé, near Angers, the latest being packed up, and one of the three chateaux already dismantied, is the work of a master hullder of the medieval revival called René Hodé, who was the subject of an exhibition in Paris two years ago.

A few miles to the west of Cimbré is the chateau de Challain-la-Potherle, the acknowledged masterpiece of Hodé'e Errol Flyno "Ivanhoe" style. Behind a massive castellatad gate lies a white palace hristling with candle-snuffer turrets and spires. André Fermigier, the architectural correspondent of "Le Monde," calls Challain "a staggering apparition." But such is the hias against i9th century pastiche that here is no mention of Challain or Hooe in any of the main guidehooks to the Loire chatesu country.

THE DEFENCES may now go up round the surviving works of Hodé. But there are so many slate spires of 19th century mansions jutting above the trees of the Loire Valley that Van der Elst has few worries about the future. He claims that he has 15 French chateaux lined up for dismamherment. The owners have given up the struggle to meet the bills for rates, taxes, upkeep and repairs, __

They will receive no money from Van der Elst; hut unlike the other demolition contractors he will not present a bill for taking the chateau off their hands. "The others destroy everything,"

"Those who stay don't become hardened. They are doing sacred work and their sensitivity is constantly renewed. Many would like to leave but they are Godfearing men and they are afraid that no one would be found to take their place."

There are burial customs peculiar to Jerusalem that make their job more onerous. These customs are Kabhalistic in origin and stem from 16th century Safad. Washing of the body, for instance, is much more thorough than elsewhere. When we come into the world as infants we are cleaned," says Phillip. "We must be cleaned when we are returned."

The injunction not to leave bodies unburied overnight in Jerusalem means that once or twice a week the men go out with portable lamps for a night-time burial. (Other Jerusalem customs include an injunction against the offspring of a deceased male accompanying the body to the cemetery. Since many nevertheless insist on this, the burial society permits it if the children proceed in front of the funeral cortege. Another Jarusalem custom is for the mourners to walk around the grave eaven times after hurial.)

The Men of the Flag — the phrase is apparently associated with the flags carried by the tribes of Israel

- comprise a kolci, or yeshiva, for married etudents, with their own rabbl. Between funerals, they study in a room in the Sanhedria funeral home. They dress uniformly in long, dark jackets and their aim is to lend an air of ceremony and dignity to man'e final journey.

Yet even within the ultra-orthodox neighbourhoods where they live, they are quasi-untouchable. Instinctively, men often distance themselves from anshei degel as if they are distancing themselves from their

ALTHOUGH the site, near the Kennsdy Memorial, offers a beautifui view, its main drawback is distance. It is estimated that a funeral cortsge would take 40 minutes to reach the site from Sanhedria, about three times as much as the time to Har Menuhot.

It takes as long to prepare a cemetery in Jerusalem as a housing development hecause of the steep and rocky nature of the sites which require extensive cut-and-fill operations and hlasting. Graves are prepared ahead of time and covered over with slabs and earth fill until

The Kehilat Yerushalayim Society employs a landscape architect. Meir Peteg. to design its cemeteries. At Har Menuhot, its section is clearly distinguished by the park-like ect-ting. Sections belonging to other hurial societies overlooking the Tel Avly road are stark and treeless.

Jewish law forbids the planting of fruit-hearing trses in cemeteries. On the Mount of Olives, this injunction was taken further by the burlal societies, which did not plant any trece hecause of the special sanctity of the site. eachines the other six days of the week? Your behavior toward the tiny state of Israel gives the lie to your pretensions. If you really believed in these priociples, and the Huroan Rights you love to lecture others about, you would not threaten the existence of the only country in the Middle East that practices Human Rights. Peace is not to be had by our nation becoming an instrument, if not an accomplice, of the Arab oil states and their attempt to blackmail the Western World.

You debase our nation, sir, and make a mockery of our history when you compare the so-called Palestine Liberation Organization with the Civit Rights movement in America. Dealing with murderers of innocent children cannot be counfenanced under any conditions. There are perhaps as many as 5,000 members of the PLO. Does this make a nation? Without their tactics of threat, bribery, and violence where would they be? Whom do they really represent? Do you thinh the PLQ can reduce the price of oil? Wiff the PLQ get I reedom for the black slaves in the Arab countries? Why is it, sir, that you ignore the Human Rights issue when you talk of the PLO and the OPEC countries? What about Human Rights on Saudi Arabia. The Sudan, Iran, Iran, Lebanon, Jordan, Egypt, Syria and Lybia? How much independence, self-determination, and buman rights would there be in a so-called ledependent PLO state of one million, an enclave buried in a sea of anti-democratic, anti-Humao Rights Arab countries and headed by Russion backed men like Yasser rafal? Mr. Carter, you often quote from the Bible. Have you ever read ony of the Noran, the Bible and Constitution of most of the Arab States? Please recall that people did not take seriously what Hitler wrote in Mein Kampl.

From the Koran: "Believers, take neither Jews nor Christians for your friends. They are friends with one another. Whoever of you seeks their friendship shall become one of their number." Allah forbids you to make triends with those who have fought against you. "Kill them wheever you find Them. Drive them out of the places from which they drove you idolatry is worse than carnage. Fight them until idolatry is no more and Allah's religion reigns supreme."

Has any Arab leader given you any assurance that these are not his avowed aims? Has any United Nations resolution been proposed for any nation to do anything for anyone . . . except Israel to reduce its security . . . in return for one half of o

How can you support the most inhuman distatorships, and talk of Human Rights at the same time. Is it in this country's interest for you to have your arm around Pinochet of Chile; to have supported the Somoza regime in Nicaragua and the Shah of tran until Almost the end to name just two recent examples? Is it not manifest that our policies are leading this As for democracy, treedom, and flomao Rights, Israel stands alone in the Middle East. The real loog term interests of this country and history demand that she survive; that she receive our wholehearted backing and support You must know, Mr. President, that your attitude toward Israel and the Jewish people sets an example and influences people in the United States and elsewhere in the world. As a student of history you know the techniques of exploiting the lews, using them as a scapegoot for o people's failures and frustrations. When evil and terror strike an ailing world, the poisonous cry. "The Jews are to blame," reverberates through the air.

Bridan A. But, how quickly people forget! Like the Black leaders in America who forgot that the Jews were the lirst to march with them in the South; at Selma, Alabama, and wherever else they had causes and goals to light tor and injustices to over-territory and 100 million people. A few of these Arab nations own the largest part of the worlds wealth.

According to you, many of your staff and much of the media, ISRAEL IS THE SOURCE AND RESPONSIBILITY OF ALL THE Truth, fact, information are your responsibility and that of our free press. You can be sure, if Americans get the truth and facts, they will follow you to an intelligent solution and public participation whalever you may ask them to do. The reporting on Israel and the Middle East and the use of the power of this wealth has been at best mediocre! The oil blockade of 1973 was an act of war under the UN Charter and International Law, and has been interpreted as such by every administration, including yours. If in 1973, when we imported barely 500,000 barrels of oil a day from the Middle East, when ships billed with oil sailed the high seas with no place to land, had an American President said "KEEP YOUR OIL," and asked the American people to support him, how long would that blackmail have lasted? Yet, today you are condoming a conspiracy of bribery, corruption, greed, onti-semitism and treason. What, sir, are the real interests of the United States? Your re-election at any cost? The avoidance of any discomfort of ardship to the American people, so that they can drift on in their collective ignorance until it is too late?

Why don't you tell the people of our country that every sixty cents(cost) per barrel of oil for which we are paying an extordonate twenty dollars, (and more) is the direct cause of our inflation, depression and leading to the reverse colo the western world by the people who are blackstrailing us. Why don't you tell Americans how much Israel has done to save American twes from a complete Russian take-over in the Middle Easl . . . The intelligence traael has itenished America about Russian weaponry . . . The solid base America can count on against the Russian menace in that part of the world. Do you hestitate to commend Israel for what it does and what it stands for because your anti-Israel demands are hypoclitical: The Russians ore laughing like helf as their supposates Kuwait and Cuba decide what shall be voted on in the United

All this is happening because our American leaders will not tell the truth . . . Left it like it really is.

Who are the American Public Officials, heads of pil companies, and Arab leaders who conspired to commit this treason against the United States, and why have they not been brought to bial? They were all back and forth to the White House and the Middle East in 1972 and 1973 when this act of war against the United Stales was being planned. Are you alraid to oct against them for price lixing, and it this is technically impossible, are you also otraid to by them for treason . . . which

For a long time now, it has been obvious that there is one set of rules for tsrael and another set for the other countries in the Middle East. Every demand on Israel to appease the Arab countries is writially a signal to the USSR that this nation is witting to sacrifice that tiny land of freedom on the alter of oil and political expediency. A strong Israel is all that stands in the way of a complete disappearance of democracy, freedom, and Human Rights in the Middle East, and the hegemony of Russia over the entire Middle East and Africa. In that event bow much Middle East on will you get at what price? In this age of the atom and the seeming headlong rush to Armagedian, the destiny of the Jews and Israel is coming to huition. From the bills of Jerusalem can come words that can have meaning for the entire world. is israel stubborn, intransigent, counter-preductive it it tries to prevent you from destroying yoursell?

blood. Fam a citizen of my city, an integral part of my people.

I have a few things to get off my chest. Because I am not a diplomat, I do not have to mince words. I do not have to please you or even persuade you. I owe you nothing. You did not build this city, you do not live in it; you did not defend it when they came to destroy it. And we will be damned if me will let you take it away. There was a Jerusalem before there was a New York. When Berlin, Moscow, London and Paris were miasmal forests and swamps, there was a thriving Jewish community here. It gave something to the world which you nations have rejected ever since you established yourselfs — a homane moral code. Here are prophets walked, their words flashing like forked lightning. Here a people who wanted nothing more than to be

Their right arms

For two pain-filled millenia, while we were your unwelcome guests, we prayed daily to leturn to this city. Three times e day we petitioned the Atmosphy: "Gather us from the lour corners of the world, bring us upright to out fand; return in merby to Jerusalem. Thy city, and dwell to it as Thou promised."

On every York Ripput and Passover we farwardly voiced the hope that next year would find us in Jerusalem. Your inquestions, pograms, expulsions, the ghettos into which you jammed us, your forced haptisms, your quota systems, your genteel anti-Semitsm, and the final anspeakable horror; the Holocaust (and worse, your terrifying disinterest in ii) — all these have not broken us. They may have sapped what little moral strength you still possessed, but they forged us into stee! Bo you think that you can break us now, after all we have been through? Do you really believe that after Dachao and Auschwitz we are frightened by your threats of blockades and sanctions? We have been to Hell and back — a Hell of your making. What more could you possibly have in your arsenal that could scare us?

You never breathed the slightest profest when the Jordanians shul off the holiest of our holy places, the Western Walt, in violation of the pledges they had made after the wor - a war they waged, incidentally, against a decision of the UN. Not a murmur came from you whenever the legionnaires in their spiked helmets casually opened the upon our critizens from behind the walls.

Your hearts bled when Berlin came under siege. You rushed your airfull "To save the gallant Berliners." But you did not send one nunce of food when Jews starved in besieged ferusalem. You thundered against the walt which the East Germans ran through the moddle of the German capital, but not one peep out of you about the other walf. The one that tore through the heart of Jerosalem.

And when the same thing happened 20 years later, and the Arabs unleashed a savaged unprovoked bombordment of the Holy City again, did any of you do anything? The only lime you came to life was when the city was at last re-united. Then you wring your hands and spoke loftity of "justice" and the need for the "Christian" quality of lurning the other cheek. The fruth is - and you know it deep inside your gut - you would prefer the city to be destroyed rather than have it governed by Jews. No matter how diplomatically you phrase it, the age-old prejudices seep out of every word. If our return to the city has tied your theology in knots, perhaps you had belter re-examine your catechisms. After what we have been through, we are not passively going to accommindate ourselves to the twisted idea that we are to suffer aternat homelessness until we accept your Saviour. Metal-casting year of excavations on whal is known as Napoleon's Hill, or Tel Fukhar a 180-dunam site east of present-day Acre. Perhaps the most strlking discovery of this season's has been new evidence of ancient Sea Peoples. Ceramic relics found are characteristic of late Mycenian civilization and come mainly from-Cyprus. "It may be concluded that at the heginning of the 12th century B.C.E., the town was populated by Cana'nites and Sea Peoples." said Prof. Moshe Dothan of the Haifa

University, director of the project.
The dig is supported mainly by a university and is being carried out by a cesmopolitan team of archaeotogiets, which includes Prof. Dietheisu Conrad, at the head of 100 volunteers from German Universities isponsored by the German Research Foundation; and more from Copeonageo, from the Multinoma Bible College in Portland, Oregon, and other individual volunteers from the UK and

This seasoo again a rich harvest vielded pottery of many types, scarahs. figurines, handlee of wine amphorae, with seals imprinted oo them, separate small ceals, and jewellery, plus slag from metal workshops. The eeparate area being dug by the German team for the second eeason is etill at the "late" Hellenistic levele, which show signs of recurrent destruction, once as a residential, another time as a workshop zone. In the northwest corncr, at the foot of the tell, remnants of a Greek structure was found dating from the time of Alexander the Great. "This place is huge and unknown. THIS WEEK'S epleode of "The Professionals" was sandwiched between two news reports on the "Time" magazine story ahout Prime Minister Menahem Begin's stats of health. In the thriller, British secret agents go to great lengths to guard a beavily disguised rich Arab against assassins who are allowed, hy the kindly British security forces, to wander around London, shooting up the visitor and his defenders with every kind of weapon imaginable. Eventually we learn what bas happened: the man the beroes are guarding is a mere substitute.

From seeing this film to studying sbots of the typescript produced by "Time" correspondent David Halevi of an alleged telephone conversation with Dr. Jack Fein of New York, the mind made an irresiatible leap: elther "Time" is using aubstitutes for the premier and the physician, or else the state of Israel is running a atand-in for Menahem Begin.

Those of us who watched "Mission Impossible" will recall how easy it was to fake a plastic face which was an exact likeness of the person the bero was pretending to be. So maybe the Begin we see so often is really Shlomo Nakdimon, or Dan Pattir, or Yehuda Avner wearing a plastic face. This would explain why no attempt is made to disciplins the unruly children attending the kindergarten that is officially called

Appearing on television, Halevi ridiculed the attempts to discredit his story and cited examples of other stories of his which, he claimed, were denied by the authorities but subsequently proved to be true.

Weli, we shall see what we shall see. May I repeat my previous hope that Begin — the real one — ahould live to he 120, in perfect health, although I would like him to stop serving as premier at the age of 66.

Rushing to Eltan's defence, Amnon Linn MK said some astonishing things. He pointed out how much the country owes "Raful" - without his remarkable achievements in October, 1973, and throughout his long service, Israel might well not exist today, said Linn. That being the case, he is entitled, according to Linn, to a certain amount of latitude in what he does and what he sava:

But I must say I was ehocked by what I saw. I was brought up on stories of how swamps were redesmed and deserts made to bloom; I was taught to wonder at the akill with which watertowers and stockades were rushed up overnight in case the Arahs attacked and tried to dis-rupt the holy work.

appears. Dancers have complained privately that Soviet officials, and the KGB security police, attempt to limit Giefr contact with Moscow's foreign community. They suspect that their telephones and apartments are bugged and that certain members of the troupe act as informers for misbehaviour, including sexual deviatious.

Competition is fierce inside the Bolshol company. At 29, Godunov still had not been made a 'People's Artist of the USSR" - a coveted titie, though he was acknowledged as the No.2 male dancer behind the ag-ing Vallliev.

THE CHINA SYNDROME: Starring Jane Fenda. Jack Lemmen, Michael Deuglas. Directed by James Bridges.

AT ITS CORE, "The China Syndrome" is a slick variation on "The Towering Inferno" or "Titanic," a disaster movie that substitutes a nuclear powsr plant for a skyscraper or ship. This is not a complaint however, for this is a first-class thriller, and a film that warns against the dangers of nuclear Jane Fonda plays Kimberley Wells, a reporter for a local TV station in Los Angeles. She and a cameraman (Michael Douglas) are filming a routine story on a nuclear power plant when a strange rumbling, at first mistaken for an earthquake sets off a panic in the plant's control room. Douglas surreptitiously films the event, unaware that he has captured a near catastrophe that could have wiped out the entire population of southern California.

In director Bridges' suspenseful and disturbing film, this large chunk of geography and its population teetsr at the edge of nuclear catastrophy as the result of a conspiracy, not of ideology, but of good old-fashioned greed. Construction companies that cheated on the quality of their work, a power company that wants to insure maximum profit, and a television station that is terrified of law suits all combins to put Fonda in the middle of the potential disaster until she joins forces with the grizzled chief engineer of the plant (Jack Lemmon), who discovers that a large scale catastrophy is on the near horizon.

Those familiar with the story of Karen Silkwood — the young plutonium worker who died in a mysterious car crash just before she was to present evidence of alleged safety hazards at an Oklahoma nuclear plant - will recognize similarities in the script written by Mike Gray, T.S.Cook and Bridges. There is nothing mysterious about their position: the powers that be are fully capable of murder to protect their investments. The movie's sympathies are clearly humanistic, but often crudely stated. In the pop iconography of the '70s, the bad guys' wear pinstripes and the good guys have a touch of funkiness. So sharply are the two delineated that when this film first opened in New York, there were complaints that It had a distinct lack of fair-mindedness about nuclear power issues.

It may be well to remember that three weeks after its preview, the supposedly safest nuclear plant in the U.S., at Three Mile Island, Pa. had an "incident" that might have proved catastrophic. There, as well as in the fictitious Vantana, we came close to seeing the China Syndrome in action: the nuclear core of the reactor hurning through its lead and concrete container and, at least metaphorically, digging its way to China, while releasing huge clouds of radioactive steam and dust particles

The real theme of the movie is power. The utilily company, the media, the construction company all engage in a struggle for their own survival without consideration for the survival of the species. Lemmon, Fonda, and Douglas are the odd men out until they take the power into their own hands.

THE MAIN EVENT: Starring Barbara Streisand and Eyan O'Neal Directed by

IT IS cartainly Tel Aviv's season for boxing films. Within three weeks as many films have opened featuring e fight theme _ "The Champ," Rocky II" and this poor attempt at comedy.

Streisand portrays a flamboyantly rich, thoroughly coarse and ignorant business woman who happens to own the contract of a boxer. When her business manager embezzles her funds, she turns to the ring to recapture lost riches. Her 'property,' Ryan O'Neal, as ''Kid Natural Scanlon," is not much of a boxer, but a handeome young stud and uncouth

The two team up to turn the "Kid" into a star. En route to whatever it is they're headed for, they fight with sach other frequently and in vulgar ways. They talk a lot about sex, and the more spectacular fights taks place between them, and not in the

The two characters provs thoroughly dislikable. Strelsand tries to play the liberated woman but in the end falls into every negative female stereotype to have hit the screen in a number of years. There is an overexposure of her thighs, breasts and buttocks, which isavss ons grateful that she sings better than she looks. In O'Neal's case, he never toses his shoddiness. His attractiveness to Streisand escapes the audience. Perhaps it is something ahout his appearance as an overgrown puhescent with growing muscle power and a diminishing cerebral cortex. Genuinely bad acting is complemented by a poor script, jokes that really make sex sound dirty, a lack of directing and a rotien job of editing. Put it all together, and "The Main Event" is a real loser.

TWO THEMES seem to dominate "The Winchsll Affair." The first deals with the mystery of Lord Winchell's death in the 1930s. The second, more complex, theme unfolds the lives of two generations of Israelis. There is, however, a third, dominent motif to the movie, that of the interconnections between the generation of the plonsers of the state and of their children, the in-heritors of today. It is here that the meaning of being Israeli is given a depth and beanty new to the Israeli Heffner has studied philosophy and demonstrates an understanding of the ideas of Erik Erikson. The ploneers, grown old, have acquired wisdom. It is beautiful and painful to share their joy and pride in what they accomplished politically and socially while also seeing the regrets lives, perhaps not lived as they wanted. They find a compensation, however, in the acknowledgement that they have lived their lives as well as they could and their feelings for the younger generation. Their acceptance of the inevitability of their own deaths is part of the hitter-

Their children perceive life differently than they did. Now in their thirties, these are individuals struggling with personal rather than national identity but are also trying to put themselves in perspective both to the heroic idealism of their parents and to the realities of today. Their problems are social, marital, economic. Through the artistry of the film, it becomes evident that this new generation is no less heroic, no less idealistic, though they deal with their idealism in different ways.

Heffner weaves an intricate tale in the styls of Chekov. A young reporter (Tal Nativ) becomes inrested in discovering the truth about Winchell's death, shrouded in confusion and lies, much as the nonfictitous Arlozorov murder. Her investigations bring her into contact with the generation of elders who were involved with Winchell, Ben-Gurion, the Revisionists, and others among the country's founders. Sha first contacts her own father who was an intimate of Winchell's. Through him and his friends she solves the mystery and discovers new perspectives and meanings to her relationship with her father and his generation. She then comes to a realization of her own place in history and to an awakening of her own selfbood

Heffner has made this a director's movie by keen control over his excellent cast. The acting is low-keyed and the dialogue natural. One feels a tremendous admiration and love for Illana's father (Dov Faigen); a keen appreciation for the pain and pride of Zakai (Shimon Finkel); a sense of respect for the youth and integrity of Illana herself (Tal Nativ). In addition to the excellent development of personalities within the film, there are vignettes that add to the feeling that the story is about real people that include not only the protagonists but those around them.

If the film has a major flaw, it may be that it relies too heavily on dialogue and not enough on image. Other flaws are minor, and do not detract from the quality of the film.

Heffner's "But Where is Danny Vax?" (1972), also an excellent movie, dealt with the generation of Illana. His "Aunt Clara" (1977), though a more humorous diversion, dealt with that of her father. With "The Winchell Affair." he has integrated the two.

Uncovering a portion of the beauty of what this nation and its people are ahout is no mean chore, and Heffner's endeavour hodes well for the future of the cinema in Israel.

THE CLASS OF MISS MACMICHAEL: Otarring Glends Jackson and Oliver Reed. Directed by Silvie Nagarine.

CONNOR-MacMichael (Glenda Jackson) teaches at Selkirk, a 'special school" in London for dolescents judged to be incorrigible. Despite a large sign outside the huilding declaring li to be a school, Selkirk more closely resembles the titudes of the headmaster (Oliver Reed), who cannot think of the atudents as anything but little "hastards"; to the absolute naivete and do-good attitudes of the charity group supporting the school; and to the majority of the teachers, who are uncaring incompetents. The resultant pandemonlum is also attributable to the kind of antiquated thinking that perceives schools as haby sitting agencles for society.

Miss MacMichael is one of the few teachers who treats the youths in her class like human beings. She and the headmaster are constantly at odds over the rights of the students, the ohligations of the teachers and the role of the school. At the centre of their arguments are a collection of youngsters that no teacher would want to meet, either in a dark alley or in a well-lit classroom. Gaylord suffers from serious brain damage, Victor is an exhibitionist. Marie a prostitute: and Ronnie a klepmaniac. The students collectively partake freely of sex, marijuana and other people's property.

Judd Bernard, who based hie screenplay on Sandy Hutson's novel, has stated that "we are not making a statement about educational systems or trying to solve anything." Herein lies one of the film's major problems. Without a real understanding of the problems of such a school, the movie presents an unrealistic picture, completely devold of depth. That one of the stated intentions of the film is to say nothing at all ensures that the ingredients will never cohere or get the audience involved.

The second major problem is in the characterization of Miss MacMichael. Her boyfriend (Michael Murphy) accuses her of heing "a nobody for those kids," and unfortunately he is correct. The respect she gives her students is tantamount to a massive dose of masochistic self-ahuse. There is, after ali, a huge difference hetween ensuring the rights of pupils and allowing them to walk all over you. Sidney Poitier's "To Sir With Love" portrayed a similar kind of school situation and, while somewhat sentimental, at least gave glimpse into how one can reach such youngsters. Other "school movies" such as "Up The Down Straircase," while oo less superficial, gave insight into the real problems of both teachers and students alike. "The Class of Miss MacMichael." whils it gives us a peek at the zoo, offers little in the way of either entertainment or

"L'UNE CHANTE, L'AUTRE PAS" ("One Sings, The Other Doesn't"): Starring Therese Liotard and Valerie Mairesse. Directed by Agnes Varda,

AGNES VARDA bas long been associated with both the women's struggle and politics. In her 20 years as a film director, she has dealt with subjects as diverse as a pretty young woman who discovers her strength through the process of dying ("Clea from 5 to 7"); the Cuhan revolution ("Salut Les Cuboins"); and the possibility that one person's joy necsssarily causes another's suffering ("Le Bonheur").

Throughout the work of this mllitant and dynamic director runs a strain of humanism and persistent optimism, which perhaps comes out most fully in this, her latest, film. It traces the development of the complex friendship of two very different women over 15 years.

In 1962 Pomme, 17, is thrown out of her parents' Paris home for having helped procure an abortion for her friend Suzanne, the 22-year-old mother of Marie and Mathieu, When Suzanne's lover Jerome subsequently commits suicide, she returns to a dreary existence on her parents' farm near Soissons. Ten years later the women are accidentally reunited during a pro-abortion demonstration. We learn that Pomme, now living with her Iranian lover, Darius, sings and composes music with a four-woman group and that Suzanne is working with a family planning clinic in Hyeres. From here we are exposed to the ongoing relationship between the women. Pomme marries and goes to Iran, to meet with disillusionment. Suzanne has an on-and-off affair with a sincere but married pasdiatrician.

In 1976 the women meet again and finally seem content with the personalities and lives that they have developed. The narrator of the film (Varda) adds that perhaps their struggle can help others.

The film has strong and louching moments hut smacks too heavily of unreality. Although Varda defends the "accuracy" of her film, it seems In the end to be merely a sentimental fantasy, which lacks dimension. It is difficult, for example, to agree to the proposition that the two women have known true suffering. While they have experienced surface shocks and privations, they do oot seem meaningful in the film. The suicide of Jerome is taken too lightly; Suzanne's life on the farm is a simplistic parody; and Pomme's experience in Iran is prettified hy travelogue images, Moreover all of the problems are resolved a hit too easily. Pomme and her former husband trade children as if they were postage stamps; Suzanne acquires a nearly ideal husband with little trouble; and their. children grow np a hit too angelle lo be real.

Though the women inhabit a sumptuously photographed, lmaginary, world, it is a miliculum removed. France or the Women's Movement.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE FROM MOUNT ZION

During the High Holydays, we beseech the Almighty to bless us with a year of peace, health and prosperity; a year of peace for Jerusalem. Israel and the world.

We are now in the process of making peace on our borders with our former enemies. Now is the time to unite, and create an atmosphere of peace and understanding within our own gates.

In all forms of government it is vital that people are able to disagree with their elected and appointed representatives. These disagreements are healthy and productive; they act for the greater benefit of society, and safeguard our basic human rights. They must, however, be conducted in an open and straightforward man-

The recent personal harassment of the Mayor of Jérusalem, the Honourable Teddy Kollek, is not in accordance with the high standards of respect which our Tora demands be given to every individual, especially an elected official. Vain hatred (sinat hinam) and internal strife between Jews, have in the past caused great suffering to our people and have led to the destruction and loss of our Holy City, Jerusalem.

We, the Rabbis and the International Board of Trustees of the Diaspora Yeshiva Toras Yisrael on Mount Zion in Jerusalem, Israel, are placing this message before the public in this sacred hour, to express our concern for the future of our united Jerusalem. We are confident that Toratrue Jews in Jerusalem, Israel and throughout the world, share our feelings on this serious matter.

Let us all pray that this New Year, 5740, will be a year of peace on our borders, and understanding and brotherhood within our gates.

May the almighty bless Mayor Teddy Kollek and all the people of Jerusalem with the wisdom and insight of our Tora; for it is our Tora which will show us the path to true peace, bringing dignity, honour and glory to ourselves, our nation and our G-d.

The publication of this Rosh Hashana messaga was made possible through the generosity of the International Board of Trustees of the Diaspora Yashiya Toras Yisraal.

IN THE TALMUDIC tradition, the month of Tishri is regarded as the period that celebratee the creation of the world. After the counding of the shofar on Rosb Hashana, we

This day the world was called into heing; thie day ail the creatures of the universe stand in judgement before Thee, either as children or as servants. If as children, have compassion for us as e father has compassion for his children; if as aervants, our eyes are fixed on Thee until Thou be gracious unto us and bring forth our judgement as the light, O Thou Who art awesome and Thus, in the Rosb Hashana liturgy. the theme of creation is interwoven with the theme of judgement.

The doctrine of creation is not merely a theory regarding the origin of the universe. The Biblical description of creation must not be understood as a scientific explanation of the origin of the universe. The doctrine of creation as a dramatic metaphor has normative eignificance that transcends its factual descriptive content. The Tora does not aim at conveying neutral factual information. As a religious text, its primary purpose is to offer direction (the word "Tora" ie from the root to instruct") to the human quest for meaning and purpose.

Judaism differs from religione that preach salvation through faith. Judaism focuses primarily on the content and significance of human behaviour. The centrality of mitzvot — commandments about actions to

CREATION AND JUDGMENT he performed or avoided - in Judaism indicates the primary significance of action above helief. Judaism is primarily a way of life. Its emphasis is on practical concerns — on doing; in a word, on Halacha (from the root ''to go").

The Rahhinic weeving together the theme of creation with Rosh Hashana suggests thet creation is intlmately connected with man's spiritual rebirth.

The Biblical teaching of creation suggests the unique importance of human life. In the Bihlical account, Man is singled out from the rest of nature and set apart as a creature of irreducible worth and eignificance. Only Man is formed 'in the image of God" (Genesis 1:27). Only Man is addressed by God directly (Gen. 1:26) and heid accountable for his deeds. That is, only Man is free and thus responsible for shaping his life consciously and with deliberation.

Man alone is considered "other" hy God. It is only to Man that God communicates mitzvot and makes a covenant with, since the human species alona compriees free inlividuals who can oppose the will of God. The covenantai chalienge, "You shall be holy, for I, God, your god, am holy" (Leviticus 19:1) can only be addressed to that being who,

By Dr. DAVID HARTMAN/Special to The Jerusalem Post

The unique status and stature of men is a dominant feature of Bihlical and Rahbinic morality. In the Talmud, the fact that Adam was originally creeted alone is taken to mean thet one who saves a single life should be regarded as if he has eaved an entire world, and he who destroys single life should he regarded as if he bas destroyed an entire world (Mishna Sanhedrin).

CREATION implies the absolute dignity of human life irrespective of race, religion or creed.

Acknowledgement of the worth of human life in the light of creetion commits one to reject the depersonalization of human beings hy violence or hy the institutions of industrial eociety. The believer in creation must reject the morality of the crowd and of conformity. He must be morally disgusted by all forme of reducing people to

A heliever in the doctrine of creation is challenged to feel wonder and amazement at the birth of one single human life. He abhors the vulgar statement: "If you know one, you know them all."

Modern mase communications

medie bave in many ways made us insensitive to the precious value of a single human life. We may decry great acts of violence while remaining unmoved by the plight of the single ionely person. To affirm creation is to declare war on all such forms of dehumanization.

Rosh Hashana, which may be characterized as a cali to stand still and examine attentively the quality of one'e life, makea no sense in a depersonalized world. Roch Hasbana's call to spiritual renewal falle on deaf ears unless one is moved by the music of "man created in the image of God." The day calebrating creation and the day when each individual is judged are one and the seme. Spiritual renewal and accountability (judgement) are acted out ageinst a hackground which indicates the suprema dignity of human life (creation). Only he who appreciates the importance of the notion of the image of God" can comprehend Rosh Hashana.

The rabbinic rooting of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur In creation colour the way one experiences the awesome features of the judge-ment of Rosh Hashana. It suggests that judgement takes place because human life is significant. Human beings are judged because human action is important. One must carefully scritinize every single act one does. The al chet ("for the sin of...") confessional pre-supposee thet each and every human act is worthy of assessment. The dignity of man requires that one consider the importance of a single act. Human society becomee morally sloppy when we fail to sharpen our focus on the consequences of particular ac-tions. Moral renewal is not brought about hy hroad generalized feelings of guilt hut rather by eerious evaluation of what one did and did not do in particular situations.

The specification of buman conduct and the particularization of human heings in the light of the 'image of God' conception of Man counteracts paralyzing feelings of guilt by reaffirming the value and dignity of Man and the importance of particular actions. The orientation of the judgement of Rosb Hashanah and Yom Kippur is not to condemn man for his past failings but above all to call Man to teshuvah (return renewal) and to change the course of ique worth of Man which makes teshuvah so vital. There is no judgement in Judaism which is not linked to the hope for isshuvah. The purpose of judgement is less to determine guit than to encourage change end personal reevaluation. The liturgy of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur is a fervent plea to Man to believe that he can change, thet he can alter habits and past patterns and hulld towards a new future through honest introspection in the

THE NOTION of the ebsolute value of a single human life which lies et the heart of creation must not be understood as an idealized romantic concept of Man.

Judaism'e emphasis on the dignity and nuiqueness of Man does not lead to a naive picture of buman goodness. Immediately following the account of creation, the Bible presents detailed descriptions of human failures: Cain and Abei, the tower of Babel, Noah and the generation of the flood.

The Bible's account of human history is an explicit chronicle of batred, jealouey, pettineee and violence. God gave the Tora to a people prepared to stone their liberating laader whenever they encountered danger or deprivation. Although Man was created as a tree, independent being, he often chooses slavery rather than face insecurity. There ... are no illusions ebout human nature in the Bible nor in the rabbinic tradition. Belief in the doctrine of creation did not create naive romantic idealists.

Our affirmation of the importance of din (judgement), b'riah (creation) and teshuvah (return, renewal) will take place this year in a world where we experience the social and political tragility of the State of Israel, and where we painfully feel the lack of moral and political leadership throughout the world. In thia difficult time in history, I live with the hope of renewal because I like all Jews - have been conditioned by the regenerative power of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur. One dose not need dramatic slogans and myths not grounded in reality in order to energize our commitment to work for the spiritual renewal of Israei. Love hased on childhood illusions and myths about the spiritual purity of the Jewish people contradict the spirit of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, which proclaim the determination to struggle for renewal while being fully awake to human weaknesses and

If Jews will listen to the powerful rhythms of the liturgy and will patiently reflect on the dominant theme of love grounded in reality, we will gain the fortifude to love our people and ourselves as individuals a profound, mature love capable of sustaining commitment in the midst of uncertainty and imperfection.

IN ORDINARY yaars, Rosh Hashana, like Yom Kippur, and unlike the three pilgrim festivals (these five make up the year's biblical festivale) has no agricultural festivale) has no agricultural significance. The year being ushered in, 5740, is an exception, for it is a year of Shmitta, a sabbatical year for the land, which comes every seven yeare. The land has to remain completely fallow - sowing, pruning and ploughing are not permitted. Today, with the development of crop rotation, artificial and organic fertilizere and peet control by chemical means, the need for giving the exhausted soil an opportunity of recovering no longer obtains. There is no doubt, however that in biblical times the uninterrupted year-afteryear working of the soil would have utterly exhausted the soil. That Israel continued to be a "land flowing with milk and honey" was ensured only by the institution of the eabbatical year for the soil.

Sabbatical year

TORA AND FLORA Louis I. Rabinowitz

The famous American ploneer of land conservation and friend of Israel, the late William Clav Lowdermilk, put forth an "Eleventh Commandment" in 1989 (which was quoted by Prof. Moshe Davis in a lecture in 1975). Lowdermilk showed that the land had been impoverished by erosion, waste, mieuse and neglect of resources, a process that was being reversed by the Jewish aettlers, and he dedicated bis Eleventh Commandment' to

"Thou shalt inherit the Holy Earth as a faithful steward, conserving its resourcee and productivity from generation to generation. Thou chait safeguard thy fields from soil erosion, thy living waters from drying up, thy forests from desolation, and protect thy hills from overgrazing by the berds, that thy descendents may have abundanca forever."

Apart from one possible exception. ali these desiderata were fulfilled as a result of the sabbatical year. The exception is that the Bible statee specifically that the fallow land was to be left "for thy cattle and for the beasts that are in thy land," for whom "ali the increase thereof shall be for food" (Lev. 25.7). Apparently the fear of overgrazing and consequent erosion of the soil was either not taken into consideration or not regarded as a serious menace.

M. Ravel — Pavane pour une infante défunte

JERUSALEM, Binyenei Ha'ooma — saturday, Oct.

HAVEIG spent last month in Israel, returned to Washington to find the U.S. scene sharply transformed in ways that are potentially very damaging to Israel and that most laracits refuse to heed.

It is no doubt that the Andrew Young affair that has made the see or, more precisely, that has allowed out of the closet a lot of feelings that existed in some form earlier but were not receiving much public or political expression. I detect these feelings now not just among blacks, whose support for political meaning, but among whites; and especially among people I would call decent liberal non-Jewish whites, who have always been a crucial source of support for

The feelings are these: Israel has overresched. It has gotten an unacceptably large lock on U.S. foreign policy. Through the American Jewish community, it is using its influence in ways not in the U.S. interest. It is asking for too much money and too much political sup-port on an impossible, open-ended basis. It is foolishly refusing to grant the legitimacy of Palestinian WHAT IS MOST troubling to me is to nationalism and to recognize the esfind Israelis so insensitive to what I sentially political and non-terrorist think is a sea change in U.S. opinion. Israelis tend to eee the Young affair as a nightmare interlude, not as the essencs of the Palestine Liberation Organization. It and not the PLO is responsible for the post-Camp David impasse in the Middle East, and it dawn of a politically new day. They think their standing in the U.S. can and not the PLO will be responsible be patched up by hard work, calming for the oil disruptions, or worse, that hands and the pulling of traditional levers of influence. They expect to the impasse may produce. Invariably, the people who express or report these feelings add that get back to business as usual, by which they mean difficulty, uncer-self-fulfilling guarantee of U.S. steadfastness, without taking into account what I regard as the deeper political fact that public opinion is cotting the ground out from under Camp David's narrow approach to the Palestinian question. The Israell government seems to expect that the Camp David text will save it from the fact that more and more Americans are coming to accept that considerations of oil and justice require the United States to add a Palestinian component to its Middle East policy.

The Israelis take some comfort from the success so far of their bilateral dealings with Egypt, discounting the possibility of a logiam on the Palestinian issue later. They perhaps take even more comfort from Jimmy Carter's political weakness, which, they and everyone else can see, leaves Carter unable to put much steam behind his evident desire to draw Palestinians into the negotiating process. In a word, they are running blind.

The Israeli elite, in politics, the madia and so on, project to the Israeli public the view that this is yet another of the many periods of crisis in Israel-U.S. relations that Israel has suffered and survived. That is to say, the Israeli public has little inkling of what I take to be the central fact that the ground is shifting in the

ONE WAY I expect the Israelie to find this out is to see what happens to their fantastic new request for a doubling of ald to near the $4 billion mark. They seem quite insensitive to the strains this request will put on U.S. good will. Other strains on other issues can be expected.

The Israelis and others might have done many things in the past to prevent this situation from coming about. But now, I think, there is only one thing the Israelis can do, if they can bring themselves to stop evading the central Palastinian issue and to stop digging themselves into a deeper hole of dependence on an increasingly restive U.S. It le to say that they will deal with any authentically representative Palestinian body that recognizes their right to exist. From that, everything else

OVER THE past few weeks, the two superpowers - the U.S. and the Soviet Union - reached a confrontation point which only the most con-centrated and dedicated efforts could resolve. Even Salt-II, which had been negotiated over such a long period with much difficulty and much care, was suddenly in the

"This is a very serious matter that affects U.S.-Boviet relations." declared Secretary of State Cyrus Vance as he hinted that the U.S. might delay or withhold final ratification of treaty. "This is such a serious, matter that we must keep close contact with members of the Senate as we go forward in our dis-cussions with the Soviets," he stated.

Senator Howard Baker, of Tennessee, the minority leader, said that the development should he considered a hindrance to chances for ratification of the vital agreement: You cannot consider SALT in isolation," he declared, and the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Frank Church, of Idaho, said that this "particular action comes so close to home that unless the matter is corrected in a manner acceptable to the United States, I would think it would prove impossible to prevent it being linked to SALT as the Senate takes up the treaty."

Some 24 honrs later, Vance reported that the matter was 'so serious" that he had asked Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin to return to Washington from his vacation "at the earliest possible moment" in order to discuss the matter seriously. They subsequently held two lengthy meetings.

the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to reject SALT-II as a result of these developments. Retired Admiral Thomas Moorer, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs-of-Staff; solemnly read the letter before the committee and stre sed that the events revealed a "Soviet grand dealgn which had already been demonstrated in Africa and elsewhere.

Responding to the extraordinary appeal of this galaxy of formermilitary leaders, Church suggested that his committee might "drag its feet on SALT until the matter was resolved." This prompted Vance to meet Church and promise to mainIsraeli view of Cuban crisis

Several days later President Jimmy Carter himself and national Security Advlssr Zhignlew Brzezinski rallied to the defence of SALT-II, urging that extraneous matters be not permitted to interfere with it. But the president declared that the U.S. should use "firm diplomacy" in dealing with the.

WHAT WAS it all about? What caused this audden strain in U.S. - Soviet relations? The daep concern of American military and clvll leaders? The protests? The diplomatic hurrying and scurrying?

It all began on August 30 when But the strongest reaction came in Church disclosed the presence in a letter signed by 1.678 retired U.S. Cuba of a Russian combat brigade of generals and admirals who unged between 2,000 and 3,000 troops. In an official statement, Vance announced that the identification of this unit as a Soviet combat force had recently been confirmed by U.S. intelligence units, which concluded that the force had been in Cuha "since at least the

> The Soviet force comprisee motorized rifle hattalions, tank and artillery battalions and combat service support elements. Vance revealed that these units were separate from the Soviet military advisere and technical military personnel in Cuba which the U.S. administration estimates at between 1,500 and 2,000.
> Even though the specific mission of the combat unit was not clear, and aven though it appeared to lack an assault capacity, the very presence of the unit was, according to Vance, a 'matter of serious concern."

Carter confirmed that the forces did not have weapons capable of attacking the U.S. but, he said, U.S. relations with the Soviet Union would "inevitably he advercely affected if the Soviet troops stay

WHAT SHOULD Israelis say about this grave crisis that brought the two superpowers to a political and diplomatic confrontation?

Cuba is the largest island in the Greater Antilles of the West Indies, situated directly south of Florida and about 135 kilometres away from the nearest point in the U.S. Its popolation of about 12 militor ie separated by the sea from the 218 million citizens of the U.S., the leader of the free world.

And yet, the presence of the com-bat hrigade of between 2,000 and 3,-000 troops - in addition to the nearly 2,000 Soviet military and technical the U.S. if not a military threat, then certainly a psychological threat and a political intrusion into the region regarded as the United States's sphere of infinence.

As we look at the map of Israel against the hackground of this newest Cuhan crisis, we can only envy our American friends their fortunate situation. Israel is a small country, the size of Rhode Island, a goarter the size of Cuha, with about a quarter of its population. There is no sea separating it from its neighbours and, as yet un-reconciled, enemies who are right up against the borders of the Jewish state m in the east and in the north. Even the present borders - which are the result of the defensive war fought in 1967 - place Jordan some 30 kilometres from Jerusalem and right up against the city of Eilat. The Sea of Galilee is only a few miles away and Bsit Shean is virtually on the horder. In the north, the present border places Syria less than 22 kilometres from the Sea of Galilee and the same distance from Israsl's northernmost cities like Safad.

If Israel were to yield to world appeals and pressure - including those of come circles in the U.S. — and withdraw from Judea and Samaria (the so-called West Bank), the already dangerous picture would take on terrifying characteristics.

The forces of King Hussein of Jordan - or those of an independent Marxist Palestinian state — would be virtually on the doorstep of the 13-kilometre coastal strip to which Israel would then be confined. The horder would almost touch metropolitan Tel Aviv, Herzlia and Petah Tikva, where the hulk of Israel's population lives. It would he only about seven kilometres from the outskirts of Netanya and Hadera, 15 kilometres from Beersheha and less than eight kilometres from Ben-Gurion International Airport. The nation's capital would be surrounded hy the neighbouring state.

Moreover, Israel's neighbours to the east and north are actually still at war with the Jewish State. They are beavily armsd with the most modern weapons supplied to them in large quantities by the Soviet Union (In the case of Syria) and the Western nations (including the U.S.) in the case of Jordan. .

These are much more serious than ths "motorized rifle battallons, tank and artillery battalions and combat and service support elements" of the Soviet unit in Cuba. Their armice include very powerful air forcee equipped with the latest Soviet aircraft. In Syria, too, there are many thousands of Soviet military advisers and technical military personnel - as in Cuba.

PERHAPS this information will give U.S. opinion-makers a new perspec-tive of Israel'e position. Quite apart from this nation's inalienable right to its ancient land, these vital eccurity factors must be considered. Those who urge Israel to give up territor would . never agree to live under such conditions of proximity to the enemy themeelves. The grim mood in the U.S. was caused by the discovery of the relatively tiny force on an island 135 kilometres away. The swift, sbarp reaction of the U.S. leaders indicates how the nation would conduct itself if the Cubans were to come etill closer to home, in other words right up against New York: if Washington were to he eur-rounded hy them; if Philadelphia were seven kilometres from the horder and Florida right on the border. The Americans would not tolerate such a situation.

Thle latest experience will, hopefully, develop a fresh, more realietic appreciation of Israel's claim to sovereignty in Judea and Samaria and its absolute insistence on secure borders.

A COUPLE FROM Brooklyn, New York just dropped us a line, and we think it worthwhile for all our readers.

Sandra and Isaac Chesir write: "We have just completed a sah-batical year in Jerusalem. We came not as potential olim for a 'trial period,' but simply as an experience to he enjoyed. In this cense, our year bas heen more than successful. Our neighbours were warm and helpful. The local school made an effort to integrate our children, and their adjustment problems were minimal. "But as has happened to others hefore us, the dream of aliya invaded our thoughis. If we were at the beginning, or toward the end of our active lives (retirement), the answer would be a simpler yes. But for a family in its middle years, the practical and emotional considerations are more complax.

"The outstanding problem of course, is housing. We are not wealthy Americans. We are typically middle-class. At the moment, our resources would harely stretch to provide minimal housing for us. And, in a few chort years our children will have to be housed as "A second problem is the lack of understanding in Israel of the American mentality. Our allya is purely idealistic. We are not fleeing economic, religious or personal persecution. Yet we are asked to cope with inefficiency, waste and possible corruptioo. We do not expect perfection in so young a country, but we are frustrated by the unreeponsive-attitude of both the political leaders and hureaucracy to our individual as well as our collective problems.

"To add to our frustrations, we aleo come with a work ethic which seeme non-existent in Israeli soclety. "We come from a soclety that has a-vis the economy, education, labour and human relations, to a society which either has no apparent policy

(as in housing and relationship with the Arab population), or has a policy which is so rigid as to be counterproductive, such as over-protection of the worker to the detriment of the economy as a wbole.

'If we sound over-critical or unappreclative, we apologize. There, is much that is good in Israel, eepecially for the children. And there is certainly nowhere else that a true, full Jewish life can be enjoyed. But when one is uprooted after half a lifetime from famillar surroundings, even though it is by one's own choice, one cannot be expected to put down new roots without a little care and nur-

NAHUM SHAMIR, who recently ended a two-year stint as Israel's consul-general for the Mid-Western U.S., recalls the most unusual event during his tour of duty: a strictly kosher seder conducted hy Illinois governor Jim Thompson at the governor'e mansion in Springfield. "It was simply a family affair," Sbamlr says. "No communal leaders, just friends of his and people he works with. All Jewish. Although I must admlt one guest is somewhat of a celebrity: the columnist Ann Landers. But most were young parents with their children. There must bave been at least 60 altogether.

"My wife lit the candles and I made the kiddush. Jayne Thompson, the governor'e wife, went around from table to table to help eerve. It was in the Grand Ballroom. They had all the traditional disbes: gefilte fish, soup with kneidlach, turkey, tzimmes, apple 'matzo kugel; hot' fruit compote, eponge cake. Even Israeli Carmel wine. The tzimmee, I was told, haked for 12 houre in a slow oven. It was deliclous. Jayne and a State Senator's wife Eda Carroll, were for several days in the kitchen. cooking and preparing. The chief of on the Seder, to make eure there would be no mlatakee.

"All the rituals were observed. Even the handwashing ceremony. 'All the men follow me.' Thompson sald. In the corner of the room was set a big punch bowl in sterling silver that had the State Seal of Illinois and a decanter of water and all the men washed their hands. 'Ann Landers kept saying. 'Let's skip a little. At home we skip. I'm tired.' But he wouldn't do it until he was finished with all the songs and the complete service. He was very concerned that it should be done properly with all the customs included and aheolute decorum observed. Everyone read passages. The Sedsr was conducted beautifully, maybe better than I could have done. "When I return to Israel, they won't helieve lt. A Christian gover-nor of a state, I think be ls a Presbyterian, conducting a completely traditional Passover Seder."

A RECENT survey conducted among 1,000 leaders of Hungary's Communist Youth League revealed what correspondent Jobn Dornberg calls a "sbocking and hilarlous lack of knowledge."

More than 17 per cent of those questioned knew nothing about Lenin, 31 per cent had no idea who Stalin was, and 42 per cent failed to answer questions abut Khrushchev. One respondent even identified Khrushchev as "the first man in space.

Some 13 per cent knew no more than the fact that Lenin "was a we revolutionary. Marxist, a famous distatesman."

Stalio, according to some replies, was "commander-in-chief of the Germans" during World War II and died by "chooting himcelf in the head" - an apparent confusion with the results of the eur published last month in "Young Communist," the theoretical monthly of the Communist Youth

ear ends on upbeat as shares, bonds advance

TEL AVIV .- The Tel Aviv Stock Exchange vasion of the Jewith west on a bright note as both the index linked bond market and the share market moved higher on moderate trading

Perhaps taking a page from the recent nepts on the New York Stock Exmgs where prices have been going up despite a poor economy, the local investment community exerted sufficient buying re to move the local market to higher vels. In view of the recent selling pressures and lower prices, the result of yesterday's session was welcomed by all concerned.

Bank Leumi stock, in a delayed reaction to sparkling balance sheet, shot ahead by five sints in the wake of a ILS.6m. bid. General Bank was ahead by two while IDB, Hapoalim and Marahi (r) each registered one point

In a moderately rising mortgage hank secfor the Carmel shares were ahead by more than's per cent. Shilton (r) was up by 5.5 per cent while others in the group moved up more moderately.

insurance issues, nearly without exception, inded the session on the upbest. Ararat ILI continued to move full speed ahead as the shares jumped ahead by 7.8 per cent. Phoenix IL1 chipped in with a 6.5 per cent gain. Gains of about 3 per cent predominated among the other insurance shares.

Service shares advanced slightly. Land development and real estate stocks were mixed. Solei Boneh "A" and "C" shares continued their descent. The former wer down by 70 points while the latter fell by 40

ILDC, the oldest Israeli real estate company, saw its bearer shares pick up three points to 190. Rassco pref. was seven higher

Industrials were mixed. Petrochemicals enjoyed a good seasion as its shares sipped Alliance continued to be established as "sellers only" and for the third consecutive session the chares were established 5 per cent lower. Eiron IL: gained 10 points to 695.

Teva (b) slipped by 33 points to 796.

Lodzia did not trade yesterday as the company announced its semi-annual earnings of IL16.4m. These nearly matched the earnings recorded in all of 1978. Assis also did not trade as the company announced its financial Investment company equities moved higher. Elgar (r) rose by 5 per cent. The stellar feature were the shares investment of Paz (h) which jumped by 6.9 per cent.

Piryon did not trade. Management announced that shareholders will receive a free option, by way of rights. The company also will expand its capital to IL150m.

The management also announced that it has received an option from the Eisenberg group to purchase shares in the Maritime Bank of Israel at the same price which was paid hy the Eisenberg group. Management announced its preparedness to exercise the option. The value of the transaction has been estimated at a maximum of IL30m

IMF pessimistic

WASHINGTON (AP). - The International Monetary Fund (IMF) said

Sonday there is little hope that major industrial nations can soon find answers to their economic problems.

dustrial powers already have miscalculated the degree of the economic slowdown in the world this year, saying it will be steeper than was first thought.

It said the major nations have little choice except to try to deal gradually with problems of sluggish economic growth, high inflation and rising energy prices, even though this approach hasn't worked so far.

"The present array of problems confronting national authorities in the industrial world precludes sim-pic prescriptions offering promise of early success, but rather points to the need for pursuit of a many-sided strategy in a medium-term framework," the report said.

U.S. gold miners not getting rich

LEAD, South Dakota (AP). - The price of gold is surging to record highs, and union members at the Homestake Mine here wish they had seen it coming. Employees at the 103-year-old gold mine, the largest in the northern hemisphere, receive a wage bonus hased on the price of gold. In June the union agreed to a three-year contract that hased the bonus ceiling on a price of $330 an ounce.

But gold closed in New York on Tuesday at $376 an conce, yet another record in its climb, and union leaders were chaking their heads.

They were surprised that gold had ever reached the $330 an ounce level. let alone such higher record levels less than four months after the contract was signed.

"Hindsight's always better," said Godon Renner, spokesman for the 1,250-member United Steelworkers of America Union local. "Homestake will get fat and we'll get okinny."

Homestake produced ahout 20 per cent of the gold mined in the U.S. last year — a volume worth more than $105m. at Tuesday's prices.

The union cettlement with the Homeetake Mining Co. set up a bonus plan triggered when gold hit $275 an ounce. That price was reached almost immediately after the contract was signed.

Under the plan all the mine's 1,600 employees receive an hourly bonus of up to a maximum of 80 cents an hour, which was reached at the $330 level.

The bonus, along with other contract boousee, are added to the employec'e regular salary - $7.55 an hour for a top miner.

The fast rise in gold prices also surprised officials at Homestake.
"No, we certainly didn't have any idea if would reach this high this fast," said Ralph Tibble, assistant general manager of the mice, which last year produced 285,000 ounces of gold.

"We are wondering what's going to happeo. It could go down io price just as fast as it's gone up. We don't know where it will ectile." he oaid. Renner said the union tried to negotiate an open-ended gold bonus hut finally settled on the $330 an ounce ceiling, thinking it was "a pretty good range." Under an open-ended plan using the existing criteria for determining bonus increments, the employees' bonus today would be more than 50 cents higher.

Raashult, Sweden, left a clue - his wallet and ideotity cards, which led

A prospect of change

THE HARD TIMES the country is now passing through make a stock-taking of conventional, and especially official, wisdom necessary. And the eve of Rosh Hasbana would appear to be as proper a time as any for such a re-evaluation of established values.

For over two years now Israel has been ruled by a government collectively dedicated to the Idea that the nation's domain rightly extends over the entire area of historic Eretz Ylsrael, at least west of the Jordan river. It was in the hope of securing external warrant for this claim of right that, at Premler Begin's behest, Slnai was banded lo one throw back to Egypt, and a regime of autonomy was proposed for the occupied territories of Judea, Samaria and Gaza.

It must now be clear that nothing is doing more to hurt, and isolate, Israel than attachment to this concept — and that the peace treaty with Egypt, the present government's biggest achievement, has done nothing to make it any more palatable to its opponents. These opponents, moreover, include not just Iarael's enemies but nearly all of its best friends as well. The belief that a better hasbara would make it popular abroad has now been exploded - except, it seems, in the minds of the government.

For Israel finds itself today, twelve years after the Six-Day War, in a situation where the source of the Middle East conflict is no longer generally taken to be the denial to the Jewish State of the right to live in peace, within secure and recognized boundaries. No, the "crux" of the dispute is now viewed as the denial to the Palestinian People of their so-called inalienable rights. Today this conviction is now shared by even civilized foreign nations, who view Israel's settlement drive across the "green line" not as an assertion of a Jewish right to settle in the ancestral bomeland, but as creeping Israeli annexation.

That the present government can make so light of these facts, as it does, only shows the extent to which It has become prisoner of its delusions.

This is shown, too, in its applying for colossally increased sums of aid from the U.S. Treasury while presuming "to put the Americans in their place"; in pretending that it need not even contemplate a recession although it is doing next to nothing to curb skyrocketing inflation any other way; in expecting to muddle through for another two years without the most dire consequences for the nation.

But a government which shows such signs of isolation from reality is not a government which can last very long. And as the nation enters the new year it faces the prospect of the need to select a new government that will not be imprisoned by policies and attitudes that have driven Israel into its present plight. It is a prospect of change, but also challenge to the nation's collec-

THE URGENT ALTERNATIVE

Post editor ERWIN FRENKEL sees new elections, followed by a national unity government, as the answer to the breakdown of the Likud government.

A SENSE of despair has reached deep into the inner councils of the government. Its immediate origin lles in the performance of Mr. Begin. Cabinet ministers say and believe that the prime minister's latest lilness has drained him of the energy Without Mr. Begin as a centralizing force, the government has been beset by division. This in turn has impaired or prevented decision, further aggravating the sharp differences of party, policy and per-sonality that in any case characterize the cabinet.

The evidence is everywhere. The Liberal Party, hiamed for Israel'a unprecedented inflation, wants out. It keeps the coalition intact, for the moment, only because of Mr. Ehrlich's personal fidelity to the prime minister and the visible reluctance of its three other ministers to riok oblivion by giving up their

But the party's discontent must be considered beyond repair. For the government's internal constraints and weaknesses render it incapable of producing any economic solutions that could satisfy the Liberals or Mr. Ehrlich himself.

Even in the negotiations with Egypt, which are Mr. Begin's only and genuine — achievement, there is a prevaling sense of marking time to see which will collapse first, the government or autonomy talks. Meanwhile, Mr. Dayan and Mr.

Weizman slt spectacularly and lmmaculately on the sidelines. The record of fallure, inaction and division within the cabinet does not, of course, stop there. Sharon. Yadin. Levy. Dulzin are all names that signal the dissonance that grates upon the public temper.

And for those good citizens who doubt that the government can be in such woeful straits. Mr. Dayan's statement that the cabinet is a walking corpse, and Mr. Dulzin's remark that it needs heavenly mercy, have provided the rhetoric of doom.

It is perhaps safe to assume that, were it not for the approach of the New Year holiday season, which always provides a convenient excuse to defer decisions, the disintegration of the government coalition would be

EARLIER ON in Mr. Begin's tenure, such a prospect of collapse might, with justice, have elicited partisan emotions. Dismay in the Likud could have been equalied by pleasure in Today. however, serious-minded Israelis, and especially Labour and Likud politicians, must acknowledge that the crisis of anarchy grips both partieo. The government's failure to govern, because its leader can no longer lead, is faithfully matched by Labour's disunity.

In these circumstances, familiar sentiments of party partisanship can only provide a foolish refuge.

RITA EKER On behalf of Women's Campaign for Soviet Jewry

Polltical scientists will, of course, be able to detect a malady in our party system as a whole: the discipline that once held our parties together has dissolved. And thase same theorists will prescribe cures, some no doubt requiring constitutional

But today's government and today'e parties cannot wait for iong-term therapy. However deblitated, they must address today's problems with today's resources.

The specific question that must be asked is: what polltical resources can be released to provide the nation with a government that can govern?

THE BEGINNINGS of the answer must lie in new elections. The call for new elections merely acknowledgea that the present government bas reached a dead end. Electiono themseives are needed to locate anew the boundaries of majority opinion, the areas of broad national consensus. Assuming that such a consensus stili exists, only a govern-ment that represents it will be able

In the past, that consensus iay astride both major parties as we know them today. Given the disunity that affects both the Likud and Lahour, it is probable that elections could lead to some solits to the right and left and that, even more decisively than in the past, neither party would be able, alone, to capture or represent the national will. Therefore only a government that embraced both parties would be able to govern. The specific weaknesses of the Likud and Labour would, in tandem, not disappear. But at least they would be moderated by such a government's basis of popular sup-

In short, the only alternative to the present situation - a breakdown of government under Mr. Begin - is a oational unity government. And even such a government will only be possible and workable after the country has once again expressed its will in a general election.

The only question that remains is who, in the present despairing coali-tion, will provide the final little push that will bring down the Begin government and open the way for reconstruction?

A MAN OF STATURE

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post

Sir, — After having read your two articles, "Vacuum at the top" and "The question of leadership," |September 7: I was astonished that one man was not mentioned whom I. personally, consider as outstanding: he has not only political acumen, but also a broad and comprehensive assessment of our future as a state.

I am not a party man and do not have any inside information, but this man seems to me above the petty intrigues and fight-for-power struggles. He has acquired the respect of the international community and has put our case clearly and forcefully before the nations. He has helped us more than once to overcome our doubts and fears. Although I do not agree with all his Ideas, as expressed in his book "Who stands accused," I think that the man who may be able to lead us out of the bog is our former Ambasoador to the UN -- Chaim Herzog. #### THE PALESTINIAN COVENANT To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post

Sir, - In his article of August 31. 'The best defence,"- Chaim Herzog writes: "A series of advertisements should have been published in the major newspapers and magazines of the world highlighting the principle elements in the Palestinian Covenant ... lpiscing) those who wish to taik to the PLO in a most embarrassing situation."
It is never too late to act, particularly in one's own defence, and not only governments have the right to publish advertisements: committees of concerned citizens have also been known to take steps for the good of the state.

Mr. Herzog's final proposal in this same article is "that the government announce its willingness to talk to every Palestinian Arab who declares that he is not bound by these sections of the Palestinian Covenant which are obnoxious to Israel, and that he rejects terror as a weapon." A barrage of letters from our coocerned citizens to all the newspapers in the country, as well as to members of Knesset, might beip to coovioce the government of the necessity of this action. #### NEW YEAR GREETINGS TO RUSSIAN JEWRY

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post Sir. — We are sending Soviet Jews lovely picturesque New Year cards to offer them moral support. These cards are supplied by the Israei Public Council For Soviet Jewry and distributed to immigrant organizations in Haifa through the Municipal Council for Klita. They are available at the Haifa AACI, 124 Hanassi Blvd., free of charge, ad-dressed and ready to mail. All you need do is write a message and affix

If you wish to offer long-range moral support, join our active letter writing campaign. This personal contact with Soviet Jewry gives them an honest and positive picture of us and our country, thereby counteracting the venom they are being fed daily. Names and addresses of Soviet Jews are available upon request. ANNA ROSEN

PHOTOGRAPHING YOUR BABY

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post Sir, - Photographer Lester J. Millman has indeed a memorable recording of his child's first year (September 7), but how many parents can afford such a phenomenal luxury? In view of the price of film and development, the average parent considers himself lucky if he can film his child three or four times in the year.

(CORRECTION)

Finance Minister Simha Ehrlich, and not Prime Minister Begin, said, "I hardly could assume the onus of bring-ing down the Likud, could L." The landvertent error appears in Mark Segal's article, "The cablnet's lightning rod," on Page Five of today's Jerusalem Post Magazine.
